By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, April 22 (AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara and his cabinet resigned in a group tonight under pressure from the leading political parties, who were expected to join the deposed prime minister in forming a new cabinet.

All ministers agreed to the resignation after Shidehara and Cabinet Secretary Wataru Narashi explained to them that this action was "necessary to stabilize the political situation," Narashi said in announcing the decision.

Shidehara became premier six months ago after a series of political shakeups which followed Japan's surrender.

The action, predicted since no party succeeded in gaining a majority in the April 12 election, came after a series of political maneuvers so complex that they dazed the ordinary Japanese and left the makeup of the next government obscure.

The 74-year-old premier took his resignation to the imperial palace tonight. Emperor Hirohito accepted it in a one-hour audience but followed with the traditional practice of asking Shidehara to remain in office until his successor could be appointed.

Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida conveyed the resignation decision to general MacArthur previously through one of Supreme Headquarters' staff officers.

This first full-time occupation cabinet, appointed soon after the surrender, ended its six months' reign under fire from all but one political party, all Tokyo newspapers, most trade unions and other organizations.

Criticism has been almost constant the past four months over the cabinet's failure to solve the food problem and other difficulties connected with living under rehabilitation conditions.

Gen. Marshall Demands Proof Yankee Planes Strafed Reds

Chungking, April 22 (AP)—General Marshall formally demanded today that the Chinese Communists either publicly retract or furnish details of their unsupported charge that American planes attacked Communist forces in Manchuria and that one was shot down.

Marshall, special American envoy seeking to establish peace between the warring Chinese factions, held an inconclusive three-hour meeting with Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator, and a separate session with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Chou said he was radioing field commanders for information on the reported air attacks, which allegedly occurred near embattled Szepping last week.

Government reports from Manchuria said today that Chinese Communist troops "are gathered like clouds" in the Kungchulin district east of Changchun where the government's First Army apparently made slow progress in its effort to reach the fallen capital.

Held Yank Reporters
Kungchulin is 36 miles from Changchun. It was captured by the Communists last week.

Lt. Gen. Chao Chia-Hsiang, acting commander of government armies in the northeast, was scheduled to fly from Mukden to the Changchun area today to report on the military situation there.

The New Life (Peiping Daily) correspondent said five United States newsmen, including Associated Press correspondent Tom Masterson, were safe in Changchun but without freedom of action. Approximately 100 government officials there also were detained.

The capture of Changchun was reflected in increasingly jittery feeling among government quarters in Mukden and North China. Defenses were tightened at Peiping and Tientsin.

A demonstration at Central Park in Peiping Sunday resulted in eggs and stones being hurled at candidates to the National Assembly.

No Yanks In Area

General Marshall in a formal letter has asked Communist Gen. Chou En-Lai to investigate Communist claims that United States planes strafed their forces at Szepping last week and to make a public retraction if it's unfounded, Chou announced. He said he had requested a "full report" of the Communist military headquarters.

A Chinese government military spokesman labeled as a "complete fabrication" the charge that U. S. planes had strafed the Communist forces.

Reports from headquarters of U. S. Army, Marine and Navy air units based in China said no U. S. aircraft were in the Szepping area at the time of the reported attack.

NO JURY TRIALS AT APRIL TERM; WITNESS IS ILL

The only case scheduled for trial at the April term of court, an action in assumpsit brought by R. M. Walton, Mt. Joy township, against E. Charles Matthias, was continued this morning until August term of court because of the illness of one of the principal witnesses.

Twenty-two jurors had been listed to come to court this morning after it was learned last week that only one case was to be heard at the present term of court by a jury. When the case was about to begin this morning, Attorney Richard A. Brown presented a petition to the court stating that John E. Moudy, Littlestown, principal witness for Matthias, was ill and unable to attend court. Attached to the petition was a medical report by his physician, Dr. Donald B. Coover, stating that Moudy's "physical condition is such that his presence as a witness is inadvisable." Moudy, according to the petition, was intermediary in the sale of property by Matthias to Walton, and had made all arrangements for the sale.

Walton is accusing Matthias of not telling him prior to the sale of certain rights of way and other rights granted various utilities over the property and of removing from the property certain articles, including window shades, which Walton claims were part of the sale.

To Hear Equity Case
The court will sit Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to hear testimony on a bill in equity brought by Merle R. Moritz, Freedom township, against David A. Riley, Cumberland township. Moritz is claiming that he had an option on some property and that Riley has refused to sell him the property as called for in the option.

The twenty-two jurors, who were drawn Thursday to appear for court today and from which the jury for the Walton-Matthias case was to be drawn were dismissed when the case was continued. The other jurors were notified last week they did not need to come to court.

On Saturday the court will pass sentence on a number of persons who had pleaded guilty to criminal charges.

The two cases continued for set—

EASTER TRAVEL TOPS PRE-WAR PERIOD '39-'41

Traffic so far this year has been approximately twice that of 1939, 1940 and 1941, the three years prior to the war period, the National Park office revealed today.

A comparison of the tourist travel figures kept by the National cemetery superintendents over the past years revealed that visitations during the past month were up to ten times the number during the same periods of 1942, 43, 44 and 45.

Approximately 6,400 people visited the National park here during the three-day Easter week-end, Cemetery Superintendent Alvin Baker said today, a figure that exceeds pre-war years for tourist traffic.

There were 87 guided tours over the field Easter Sunday, 79 on Saturday and 69 on Good Friday. Estimated tourist travel for Sunday was 2,432 persons, for Saturday 2,200 people and for Friday 1,700 people.

Heavy Visitation
Park guards said the visitation was the heaviest they had seen in years, with Big and Little Round Top and other favored spots on the field jammed with tourists as well as local people as the travelers took advantage of the beautiful weather to view this historic shrine.

State police said that traffic on the highways in the county was heavy with thousands of cars traveling on the various roads during the Friday-Saturday-Sunday holiday period.

Despite the heavy traffic only two accidents were reported over the week-end. One happened Saturday evening on the Abbottstown-Hanover road, the other on the battlefield at the Brian house, Sunday afternoon.

Robert A. Bunty, McSherrystown, was charged before Justice of the Peace Harry Brinton, Hanover R. 3, with failure to yield one half the highway as a result of the accident Saturday night at 10:15 o'clock, 1 1/2 miles south of Abbottstown on the Hanover road.

Report Accidents
State police, who investigated, said that Bunty sideswiped a car driven by William B. Carver, Hanover, which was proceeding south at the time. No one was injured and damage totaled $150.

A 1946 car was involved in the accident Sunday at the Brian house. The new car, driven by Clarence A. Boyce, Jr., Baltimore, was struck, park authorities said, by a car driven by Edward E. Ball, Halethorpe, Md., as the two cars rounded a curve at the Brian house. No one was injured and damage totaled $150. Park Superintendent J. Walter Coleman is continuing his investigation.

Besides the accidents, a number of drivers were apprehended for motor code violations.

Jean Glass, Littlestown R. 1, paid a fine and costs before Justice of the Peace Howard Blocher, Littlestown, on a charge of driving without a license, brought by state police.

Donald E. Staub, York street, was arrested for reckless driving, by state police, with the charge laid before Justice of the Peace W. D. Brown. A 10-day notice will be sent.

Roland D. Lawver, Biglerville, was charged, also before Justice Brown, with speeding. He also will receive a 10-day notice. The charge was laid by state police.

Holland Tulips Cut Tuesday
Used In Local Home At Easter
Adams countians may soon be able to purchase flowers cut the day before in Holland but Jan N. Rijdsdijk, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Smith, West Lincoln avenue, is finding out that the work of pioneers is attended by heavy risks.

Rijdsdijk's family in Holland has been in the cut-flower exporting business for years, supplying flowers throughout Europe.

With the establishment of the Royal Netherlands Overseas airline from Holland to the United States it was decided to fly flowers to the U. S. and sell them here. Despite the cost of flying the cut flowers here and the 25 per cent import duty that has to be paid on them they can still compete in price with American florists, says Rijdsdijk.

The first small shipments sent as a trial came through in good order and sold well in New York, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago and other cities.

Then last Tuesday they decided to send $5,000 worth of cut tulips to the U. S. for sale during the Easter season.

The bride graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1939 and attended Thompson's business school, York. For the last six years she has been employed in the office of the Reaser Furniture company.

The bridegroom attended Greenmount school and served five years in the armed forces, 23 months of which were spent overseas. He is now employed by the state highway department.

BLAZE DAMAGES ELECTRIC PLANT

Pitcairn, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Line crews, engineers and riggers, working feverishly throughout the day, succeeded in restoring electric power service to this Allegheny county town of 6,300 late last night after an Easter morning fire swept the municipal power plant.

Emergency facilities, which included a temporary power station set up on Main street sidewalk, were provided by the Duquesne Light company.

The power cut-off left the community without lights, refrigeration or traffic signals for more than 20 hours. "The town was down flat. It was worse than a blackout," declared Police Chief Charles Leger.

The municipal pumping station was unable to operate, but a reservoir kept the town supplied with water until power to start up the pumps was restored.

Easter services were held in the town's churches despite the power shutdown, but pianos instead of electrically-operated organs supplied the accompaniment for the choir anthems and congregation singing.

Stored fuel oil for diesel engines in the power plant fed the fire. The flames were visible for several miles in the Turtle Creek valley. Six fire companies brought the fire under control after several hours' work.

Clyde Loughner, town council president, estimated damage to the power plant at $10,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes sets out for Paris tomorrow and another try at world peace-making, gravely aware by his own account of the possibilities of failure.

TIGERS BREAK PRECEDENTS IN EARLY SHOWING

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Detroit's snarling Tigers, having smashed a triple jinx that plagued them through the years, were licking their chops today and shouting defiance at the baseball experts who had predicted the wartime world champions would not repeat.

Prior to this season the Tigers had (1) lost their last eight opening games; (2) beaten Pitcher Steve Gromek of Cleveland only once in seven tries; (3) taken the measure of Bob Feller but twice in his last nine starts against them, or since Rookie Floyd Giebell confounded the baseball world by outpitching the Indians' fireballer in a game which decided the 1940 pennant.

This year, in only five days, Detroit's Darlings have (1) shattered their opening day hoodoo by beating the St. Louis Browns in the season's inaugural; (2) whipped Gromek 7-0 in his own ballpark before 42,775 rosters; (3) triumphed over Feller, who before this season had beaten the Tigers more times than any other team.

Home On Double
Detroit had to travel into overtime yesterday to break the Feller jinx. The Tigers accomplished it in the 10th inning, 3-2, when Eddie Lake wrangled a free pass from the Van Meter (IA) meteor and scampered off the way home on a two-bagger by Eddie Mayo.

The Red Sox had to be satisfied with an even break against Philadelphia's Athletics, and were forced to stage a six-run ninth inning rally to even gain that. After George Metkovich's three-run homer climaxed the ninth-inning onslaught, Ted Williams won the opener in the 10th with a bases-loaded single 12-11. The A's behind old Bobo Newsum, gunning for his second straight victory, captured the second game 3-0 to snap Boston's five-game winning streak.

The New York Yankees, pre-season favorites for the American league flag, kept pace with the Red Sox and Tigers by tripping Washington's Senators 6-1 behind the effective six-hit pitching of Spud Chandler.

Reds Cop Doubleheader
Brooklyn continued to lead on its cousins, the New York Giants, defeating their interborough rivals for the third straight time 2-1 as Rookie Joe Hatten outpitched Bill Voiselle for his first major league victory.

The Cincinnati Reds ended a victory famine by submerging the Pittsburgh Pirates in both ends of a double-header 8-2 and 4-3. Boston's Braves and Philadelphia's Phils divided a twin bill, the Braves winning the opener on a squeeze bunt in the 11th 3-2 and the Phils, aided by Frank McCormick's two-run homer, taking the nightcap 3-1.

Despite two four-hit jobs by Chicago White Sox pitchers, the St. Louis Browns took both games 2-1 and 4-2.

FOX TO MEET OSSIE HARRIS

Philadelphia, April 22 (AP)—Billy Fox, a 20-year-old ebony flash with dynamite in his padded gloves, seeks his 39th straight knockout tonight as he enters the ring for the 39th time in his professional career—this time against Ossie (Bulldog) Harris. Fox, a product of Philadelphia, hammered the Pittsburgh lightweight last time the pair met. But it took him nine rounds and two extra minutes to make the 10-count and a KO win official.

The Philadelphia Negro wants to prove at the Arena tonight that the victory was not a fluke. He hopes to use Harris as a stepping stone for a title match with Gus Lesnevich. Pitler Optimistic
In the Harris camp there is nothing but optimism, and the two to one betting figures that favor Fox get the horselaugh.

Harry Pitler, the Pittsburgh battler's manager, says Harris will manhandle the Negro puncher. He insists there will be no Fox-Lesnevich bout this summer as rumors indicate.

"How much would Fox draw with Lesnevich after Ossie gets through making a monkey of him?" Pitler asks. "Ossie was leading on points up to the ninth round (in their previous fight a month ago) but then weakened and got caught by a lucky right hand."

Arena official predict a capacity crowd for the 10-round go.

Reading Bowling Team Takes Lead

Erie, Pa., April 22 (AP)—The Carlson hat team of Reading last night displaced the L. A. Brooks entry of Philadelphia as leader in the "A" division of the state bowling tournament. Its total was 2975 to Brooks' 2880.
Sammy Kent, of Philadelphia, led singles play with 751 and also all-events with 1913, while John Pastor and Al Swartz, of Greensburg, topped the doubles combination with a 1258 total.

No Hit Game Is First In 35 Years

Portland, Ore., April 22 (AP)—The Portland Beavers' Ad Liska pitched the first no-hit, no-run league baseball game here in 35 years yesterday while two other Pacific coast league hurlers—Yugger Ardizola of Oakland and Pete Jonas of Seattle were tossing one-hitters in Easter Day games on the west coast.

Liska, starting his eleventh season with the Portland club, allowed two walks to mar his seven-inning shut-out for the Beavers' second game 1-0 win over the Hollywood Stars.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, April 22 (AP)—The Duquesne, Iowa, Amateur Baseball Association not only will have two ball teams composed of returned war vets—representing the American Legion and VFW—but it will use a number of disabled vets as umpires.

And no cracks about what happened to their eyesight. . . . Secretary Carl V. Riley explains: "Our officers felt that there were vets interested in the game who, because of injuries or other disabilities, would be handicapped in playing but who would get some enjoyment and make a few dollars as umpires. . . . They found about a dozen to attend a two-weeks umpiring school which will start in May and all hands agree it's a swell idea which could be tried out in other cities. . . . We would get almost as much kick if we could produce a good umpire or two as if a second Babe Ruth came out of our league," says Riley.

MONDAY MATINEE

At least one National football league club owner, who wants his name withheld until his cough is gone, admits he's trying to out-bid the All-America conference for player talent. That league claimed it was started to benefit players, he maintains, and I'll benefit them all I can. . . . Darryl Farnshall, the "gentleman farmer" from Millbrook, N. Y., will resume his old trade as trotting-horse driver at the Goheen historic track meeting in June. . . . Marilyn Globisch, Penn State co-ed who holds the Middle Atlantic AAU 50, 100 and 200 yards breaststroke swimming records, recently won her third campus beauty contest and has been described as "a natural beauty" by no less an authority than John Robert Powers.

MACON OR BREAKIN'

Bill Davis, Milwaukee Brewers' pitcher, is authority for this story about the time he and Max Macon, later a major leaguer, were playing at Bloomington, Ill., where Burleigh Grimes was manager. . . . Macon hurt his foot slightly while pitching in the bull pen one day and retired to the clubhouse. . . . Late in the game Grimes wanted a relief pitcher and Max wasn't there. . . . When Burleigh finally caught up with Max, Davis says, he gave the youngster an old-fashioned tanning and then phoned Macon's father to come and get his son. . . . When Macon, Sr., arrived he approved what Grimes had done and added: "Do it again if you think it will help. Maybe it will make a ball player out of him."

NO JURY TRIALS

element were both actions in trespass. Both involved auto accidents. In the one Harry Hammond, Hartford, Conn., is suing Stanley Straley, Mt. Joy township, for injuries to himself and damages to his car. In the other case Charles Dean Milby, Holiday's Cove, Va., is suing Mrs. C. S. Gall and Ross V. Smith, trading as Gall and Smith and John T. Jones, Thurmont, for injuries suffered in a vehicular accident.

Saturday, at hearings in desertion and non-support cases Clarence Lockbaum, Gettysburg, was ordered to pay $12 a week for the support of his wife, Ruth A. Lockbaum and their four children.

Charles Hinkle, Huntington township, was ordered to pay $15 a week for the support of his wife, Hazel, and child. Hinkle, who is drawing workmen's compensation at present due to a broken leg was told by the court that the payments will be only $10 a week until he has recovered the use of his leg and is able to work again.

Other Support Orders
Donald E. MacPherson, Gettysburg, was ordered to pay $12 a week for the support of his wife, Catherine K. MacPherson. George S. Fissel, Iron Springs, was ordered to pay $10 a week for the support of his wife and child. Raymond W. ## INTERSTATERS NOW IN MAJORS

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, April 22 (AP)—The eight-club Interstate league opens its eighth season next week with two new members, Harrisburg and Sunbury, and a lot of new faces on the other six clubs. . . . Bill Reedy, in a timely column in the Reading Eagle, recalls the number of Interstate league stars who have moved up to jobs with the major circuits.

Heading the list is Billy Cox, now regular shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . He played for Harrisburg in 1941 and was sold to the Pirates for $16,000. . . . Bill Benswanger said at the time it was the highest price ever paid for a class B player. . . . Now the investment is paying dividends.

With Athletics
Jack Wallace, another shortstop, who formerly played for Wilmington, is scampering around the infield for the Philadelphia Athletics. . . . George Kell, third sacker for the Mackmen, is a product of the Lancaster Red Roses. . . . And Elmer Valo, the little chap with the big shoulders who plays the outfield for Connie Mack's hopefuls is another graduate from Wilmington.

Jimmy Wallace, who formerly pitched for Hartford, is slated to start on the mound for Boston today against the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . Carl Furillo of Stony Creek, Berks county, got his start with Reading and now is a regular outfielder at Brooklyn. . . . Then there is Walter Nothe, Gian left-handed finger now with Brooklyn, who also got his baseball baptism at Reading.

Plenty Of Managers
The Williamsport Grays may not win too many pennants in the Eastern league but they have produced plenty of managers. . . . Ray Keyes listed them in the Gazette and Bulletin and came up with 14 ex-Grays in managerial roles. . . . The most prominent being Ivy Griffin, pilot at Greenville in the class A South Atlantic league. . . . Five more are with class B clubs, with Walt Van Grofski at Sunbury; Spencer Abbott at Charlotte, N. C.; Wally Tauscher at Meriden, Miss.; Gene Hannon at Portsmouth; and Tom "Shaky" Kahn at Norfolk. . . . The other eight are with class C and class D clubs throughout the country.

Football Team Plans Reunion

Washington, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Members of the Washington and Jefferson college football team which battled California to a scoreless tie in the 1922 Rose Bowl game, plan a reunion here May 5 and 6.
Ralph Vince, a right guard on the team and now an associate juror in Cleveland, said all team members except Herb Kopf, coach of the professional Boston Yankees, plan to attend.

PITT BEATS OHIO

Athens, O., April 22 (AP)—Paged by Herb Douglas, who won the two sprints, the high jump and broad jump, Pitt's track squad edged out Ohio university, 70 to 61, in the season's opening meet for both schools here Saturday.

Best Of Amateurs In North-South Golf

Pinehurst, N. C., April 22 (AP)—Three of the nation's finest amateur golfers held the spotlight in today's 18-hole qualifying field for the 46th annual north and south amateur golf championship. Expected to be sure starters in the championship match play beginning tomorrow, they were young Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, O., who whipped the pros for the Durham open title last fall; George T. Dunlap, Jr., seven times winner of the north and south and a former national amateur champion; and Richard Chapman, also a former national amateur titlist.

GRAY DECLARES MAJORS TOUGH

By GIB STALEY

Nanticoke, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Pete Gray, 29-year-old one-armed outfielder who played last year with the St. Louis Browns of the American league, doubts if he'll ever play in the majors again.

"The pitching is a little too tough for me up there," Gray told a reporter. "Besides, the competition will be even keener now that a lot of former ball players have been discharged from the services."

Gray had his poorest baseball year in 1945, batting only .223. The St. Louis club paid a reported $20,000 for Gray at the end of the '44 season. It sold him to Toledo of the American association last November.

Wants More Money
"I definitely will not sign the contract Toledo has offered me," Gray said. "I won't sign until I get what I think I'm worth. I've been working out pretty hard and feel in great shape." Gray would not say what Toledo offered him. He also declined comment about an offer from the Mexican baseball league.

"I had a wire from the Mexican league a few weeks ago," he admitted. "Haven't even considered the offer. If I don't play with Toledo I don't know what I'll do. Maybe I'll go into some sort of business."

Gray became a better-than-average ballplayer, despite one arm. He lost his right arm in a truck accident when he was six.

Won Player Award
Gray got off to an impressive minor league start by hitting .381 in 1942 with the Three Rivers (Ont.) team of the Canadian-American league. Purchased by Memphis of the Southern association, he won that league's most valuable player award in 1944.

Commenting on his season with the Browns last year, Gray said: "I'd rather not talk about last season. I just did the best I could. I found out that the pitching in the majors is quite a bit tougher than we get in the minors."

STATE ELECTION WARM-UP FOR '48

Harrisburg, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 1946 election shaped up today as a test for Republican and Democratic forces jockeying for position with an eye on the 1948 presidential campaign.

Governor Edward Martin is the Republican organization's choice for the U. S. Senate at the primary election May 21, and some of its leaders already are talking about the wartime executive and former commanding general of the 28th Division as presidential timber.

Martin must defeat Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, Pittsburgh, in the primary for the right to oppose Democratic U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey at the November election. Mrs. Jordan is running as an Independent.

Guffey, campaigning on a pledge of the same 100 percent backing of President Truman that he gave the late President Roosevelt, is unopposed for renomination. Mention of Martin for president came from G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman and president of the Pennsylvania manufacturers' association. The only Pennsylvanian ever elected president was James Buchanan, chosen in 1856.

Centerville, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Alex Saxon, 40, of Brownsville R. D. 1, was killed yesterday when his automobile swerved from the road and struck a guard rail. Deputy Coroner John Timko reported. Saxon's brother, John, was unhurt.

REMINISCENCES

70 Years in Gettysburg

By DR. HENRY STEWART

Private Schools

Throughout the period which may be designated as the middle half of the 19th century, we had a long series of private schools in Gettysburg.

I have often thought it would be of interest to collate their histories. Personally, I have been deterred by the fragmentary character of the available data—only, so far as I know, the occasional advertisements in the local papers. For some time I have been clipping them from The Times column "Out of the Past"—but, as I said, they are very fragmentary.

Just to mention a few of them, not chronologically. I include Prof. Haupt, a distinguished engineer. His place was in the southeast corner of the intersection of the Fairfield road and Confederate avenue. The Eysters, and others in the "Academy Building" at West High and Washington streets—a Female seminary, by Mr. Thorp; D. McMillan, at the east end of Middle street and a Female seminary by Miss Campbell.

Coming toward the close of this period, we find Miss Mary McClellan.

Miss Mary McClellan
She came of one of the very old Adams county families, of which even then, very few were left. I think she was a cousin of the picturesque "Colonel" John McClellan, who for many years dominated the northeast corner of the Center square—Remember his hotel and "Opera House"?

She had been a teacher in the public schools. When she opened her private school, I do not know but she was operating such in 1863, until 1869—How much longer I do not know but she eventually retired, but she eventually retired.

She re-opened her school in September, 1879, in the school building adjacent to the jail property (later used last by the Red Cross) and mother took me from the public schools, because my relations with the teacher at the time were not satisfactory (of course, it was not my fault) and placed me with her.

She began with seven pupils—Norman and Donald McPherson, John Reed Scott, Ethel Swope (Mrs. McKee), Roberta Wolff (Mrs. H. G. Buehler), Mary Wilson, adopted daughter of Nicholas G. Wilson (superintendent of the National cemetery, later of the Battlefield).

Memorial Association)—or Miss Ella Gilliland—I am not certain which—my recollection was as given, but some years ago Miss Gilliland very militantly maintained it was she and myself.

The School Grew

The school rapidly filled up, so that by the second year she had a capacity attendance in the little building. I was with the school for two years, 1879 to 1881, inclusive, and I owe to her, more than to any one else, a sound basis for such education as I may have acquired.

She was one of Gettysburg's outstanding educators, if not the ONE. She was a rigid disciplinarian and got obedience, though I have no recollection that she ever used corporal punishment, though this was not unknown in the schools of those days. (The only "licking" I ever got in school was administered by my aunt, Miss Jennie Myers.)

The obedience she commanded was probably, in part, at least, due to our immature recognition of her inflexible fairness in her dealings with us. One incident stands out in my memory, after all these years, as if it had been yesterday.

"The Spelling Bee"
Friday afternoons were generally devoted to a lighter phase of the work of the school—readings, recitations, etc. One Friday she took the notion to spring on us a "spelling bee."

"Bertie" Wolf had, for a long time, maintained her place at the "head of the class" in the daily lessons, seldom, if ever, successfully challenged. But, when it came to "catch as catch can" spelling, she went down early. And so it went with the lesser stars until but two were left—Mary Wilson and I—a great hulking boy of 13, and a diminutive little mouse of a girl, probably three or four years younger.

Miss Mary immediately tempered her choice of words to suit the condition—and so it went for quite a time—to the surprise of everybody. At last, the word "pic-nic" fell to my lot, and I ripped it out with k's.

GOLF

They say that golf is just a game!
Then why that man with eyes
afire?

And, if 'tis pleasure, why does he
Now wrap his club around a tree?

They say that golf is healthful fun,
A pastime good for every one.
Then tell me why that lady fair,
In rage, is pulling out her hair?

Behold her in a bunker deep
Too furious perfect score to keep.
As ankle high in sand she sinks
I wonder what bad words she thinks.

Golf tortures me from hole to hole
And robs me of my self-control.
Golf early turns my temples gray,
I often wonder why I play.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
UBO

The baby UNO isn't starting off in life with any too much Hope as nourishment. And it needs so much—plus that strongest of all spiritual vitamins—Faith. And a little charity, added as a mixture to Faith and Hope, would be a combination almost certain to give long life to this idealistic creature.

The entire world hopes and prays that this UNO will succeed, and that war, as a dispute solution, shall forever be abolished, for war settles nothing. It unsettles everything, at a fearful cost in human and material treasure.

I have a suggestion for another organization—that certainly could well fit into this newest of world organizations. The changing of but one letter makes it look almost like its twin—and here it is: UBO—Universal Brotherhood Organization.

Do you think for one minute that in such an organization some member would rise to his feet and call his brother member a liar? No, sir! Brotherhood means brotherhood—cooperating with your brotherman for his good, as well as your own. The Salvation Army organization has carried out this idea to a remarkable degree, and their members are honored throughout the world.

You don't have to be solicited for membership into this UBO. All you have to do is to volunteer, all by yourself. And if you carry out the spirit of brotherhood toward all whom you meet, you will be meeting your kind, unconsciously, in scores of places, and under the strangest of circumstances!

If nations signed up in this UBO—and remained true to its spirit and purpose, all armaments could then be turned into useful things, that serve mankind, instead of crucifying it. I always liked that word the Russians stress so greatly—comrade! But of late they have not been using the word any too much. I don't want to see Comrade Stalin replaced with Generalissimo Stalin—during peace time.

It appears to me that all comrades would get along peacefully and happily in this Universal Brotherhood Organization that I suggest. Brotherhood substitutes love for hate!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Keepsakes."

Experts Advise Seed Protectants

Agricultural experts are unanimous that the use of seed protectants pays well. There are several preparations to choose from. Just add a small quantity of the powdery substance to the seed packet and shake vigorously to coat the seed lightly but evenly. Remove any excess and sow the seed in the usual way. These protectants will reduce the danger of seed rotting before the sprouts have a chance to break through. They also inhibit damping off after the plants have broken through the soil surface.

Cover Flower Seeds With Soil That Will Not Crust

With flower seeds, even more than with vegetables, the depth to which they are covered, and the light, porous character of the soil that covers them, is of vital importance.

The rule as to depth is that seeds be covered four times their diameter. This is obviously too precise for practical use, since some seeds are so tiny it would take a micrometer to determine the sowing depth. There is no need for such precision, but the practical way to proceed is merely to press the tiniest seeds into fine soil and sprinkle just enough earth over them to cover; while larger seeds are placed deeper, in the proportion indicated by the rule.

This covering soil is more important than the soil below the seeds. If your garden has much clay, and you have a limited amount of humus, the best place for it is over the seeds. The main point is to prevent a crust from forming, and it will pay in many cases to prepare a special soil for covering. Mix a third of your best top soil, passed through a sieve, with a third coarse sand, and as much peat moss, or humus from the compost pile.

When flower seeds are sown in rows, fertilizer is best applied in shallow trenches in each side of the drill, just as with vegetables. But when a group of flowers, or a single plant is wanted in one place, sow the seeds just as you would when sowing vegetables in hills.

Scoop out a shallow depression, and mix with the soil at its bottom a tablespoonful of balanced plant food; covering this with fresh soil so that the hole is nearly filled. Then sow the flower seeds, and cover lightly with garden soil, or the specially prepared soil which has been described. Mark the spot with a stake, so you will not disturb it with cultivating tools before the seeds sprout.

PARSLEY AS A BORDER

Moss-curl parsley makes a delightful border for any flower bed. It forms a neat dense mass of ferny deep-green foliage which sets off the flowers to special advantage.

STRAWBERRY IS GOOD PRODUCER IN HOME PLOTS

Any well ordered garden of the future should contain its quota of small fruits and berries, says J. W. Johnston in the New York Herald-Tribune. This is desirable from the standpoint of their contribution to the family diet as well as from the sheer pleasure of eating. In the list of berries, the strawberry stands out as one of the easiest to grow, one of the most productive and one that will, if the right varieties are selected, produce in every state in the Union.

The plants should be set as soon now as the soil can be properly worked. It is a great fallacy to think that one must wait until late spring or early summer before planting strawberries. They are not only hardy and able to stand quite a bit of real cold weather after being planted, but they also need the coolness and moisture of early spring to become well established before the hot days of summer. Variety selection is important, as some varieties do better in certain localities than others, and the very best authority in this respect is the plant grower from whom you purchase your plants.

Strawberries will grow well in any soil that will produce good vegetables, although it is desirable to start the new bed in land that has been kept reasonably free from weeds the previous season. Manure, well rotted, is a fine addition to the soil in which strawberries are to be placed and if this is not available, commercial humus may be added to supply needed organic matter. Where manure is not available, a generous application of commercial plant food should be broadcast and then worked into the soil prior to planting. Do not let this come into direct contact with the roots in any quantity.

The rows should be made three and one-half to four feet apart for the matted-row system of growing. Plants should be set from 15 to 24 inches apart, depending on the variety. The area between rows should be kept open at all times by cultivation, allowing each row to make a mat about 30 inches wide. With some varieties it will be necessary to thin out the runner plants if good fruit is to be realized. If this is done in the spring, these plants may be utilized to start an additional planting.

When the plants arrive from the nursery they will be neatly bundled and will have had their roots clipped. If you are not ready to place them they should be unpacked and the roots well watered, after which the moss in which they are wrapped should be replaced to prevent drying out. They should be kept in a cool cellar, where they may remain for about a week. It is well to wet the roots before planting out in the soil so that they will not go into the ground in a dry condition. The roots should be well spread and then the soil firmed carefully around the plant. Place the plants so that the bud crown is level with the soil surface, not below or above. If the soil is dry at time of planting, it is advisable to add water around each plant to hasten rooting.

After the first growing season a much will greatly aid in keeping down weeds and actually encourage the growth of the plants. In a planting made this spring the mulch may be added after the first real freeze next fall. Salt hay or straw may be used and it should be carefully worked in around the plants so that no smothering occurs. In between the rows increase the quantity used. Another good thing about a mulch is that thunderstorms, so common around harvest time, will not splash the fruit with mud. A hundred well grown plants will give a family of three to five people an abundance of fresh berries.

CROWDS ATTEND

Christ Is Risen Today." Reading of the scripture lesson followed by Miss Martha Furney of Gettysburg, devotional department chairman for the county union. Miss Furney also offered the prayer. Then the trumpeters played "He Arose."

The Message of Easter

Pointing to the parallel between the reappearance of life in the spring and the Easter story, the Rev. Mr. Carroll declared: "The resurgence of nature points the reason for the empty tomb in the garden. The meaning of Easter for us is that God in Christ is stronger than the tomb, stronger than evil men, than death and the grave."

"We of this generation know so well that a nation can win a few battles but lose a war. Pilate's ruling was short-lived. Easter is God's ringing challenge in the teeth of all who run roughshod over their fellowmen because of political advantage. The power of evil men, cleverness and trickery ended at Calvary."

Recounting then the story of Christ's appearance to the two men on the road to Emmaus, the speaker declared that account gives "real assurance to all that injustice and the power of evil men are temporary and that truth, goodness and beauty are eternal."

The greatest fact from the Easter story, he said, is its assurance that life is eternal. He closed by quoting Christ's declaration: "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth on me shall never die."

The offering was received as the trumpeters played and the audience sang: "He Lives." The offertory prayer was given by the Rev. Harold V. March, local United Brethren pastor. After the singing of the hymn "Christ Is Risen," the service ended with the benediction by the Rev. Mr. March. Miss Barbara Kleinfeiler, Biglerville, was the song leader.

Problems With Cucumbers

Despite the long experience vegetable gardeners have had in growing cucumbers, many perplexing problems of insect control and disease prevention still cling to this task. In fact, it is a rare year when this popular vegetable escapes ravages by at least a few ills and pests which tax the grower's ingenuity to cure or avoid. Therefore, a few practical suggestions before planting time may serve more effectively than volumes of advice after the problems arrive.

Damping-off—This soil-borne trouble must be prevented. One of the best remedies is to dust the seed with Semesan before planting. Directions appear on the package.

Anthrax—This disease is on the seed and in the soil. Cucumbers should be planted on the same site no oftener than once every four years and should not follow melons, squashes, cantaloupes and other cucurbits. The organisms on the seed can be destroyed only by disinfection before planting. Soaking cucumber seed for five minutes in a 1:1000 solution of mercuric chloride (corrosive sublimate) is recommended. Gardeners who do not know how to handle this poisonous chemical should write the editor for directions. Spraying the young plants with Bordeaux mixture affords partial control.

Mosaic—This is a virus disease. It is carried to young cucumber plants by aphids and the striped cucumber beetle. Keep both of these enemies under complete control; pull and burn affected plants as soon as they are discovered. There are no effective sprays to combat mosaic. The Shamrock is a resistant variety. Keep all weeds, especially ground-cherry, pokeweed, catnip and milkweed, eradicated in and near the garden, as mosaic virus survives in these weeds and is carried from them to cucumbers, cantaloupes and related cucurbits.

Bacterial wilt—This disease is perhaps the most wide-spread of cucumber ills. The bacteria are carried chiefly by the striped beetle and spread to new plants in the insect's droppings. The danger is not soil-borne or carried on the seed. First and foremost among practices to prevent wilt is to keep the cucumber beetle from reaching the plants. Pull and burn wilting plants as early as possible after the symptoms are seen. The striped beetle is so destructive and its control so difficult where it becomes numerous that the editor will devote a special article to it next week. Gardeners are urged to look for this article and save it for study and future reference.

Aphids (plant lice)—As mentioned above, plant lice may carry mosaic virus to cucumbers from host weeds and later transfer the disease from stricken to healthy plants. Safety lies in keeping these pests completely killed off. Therefore, inspect cucumber plants daily after leaves appear and at the first aphid arrival, dust with nicotine dust or spray with nicotine sulphate in soapy water. Coat the lice liberally and repeat the treatment as often as necessary to exterminate the enemies. Nicotine is not effective when the temperature is below 70 degrees. Dust mixtures containing sulphur should not be applied on cucumbers. Due to their light green coloring, aphids are often difficult to detect.

By 1839 more than 700 men and women had left England for New Zealand with about 400 children.

The Florida everglades cover nearly 5,000 square miles.

CANDYTUFT MAY BE SOWN EARLY

Annual candytuft has been a favorite for a great many generations, having found its way from European gardens to those of other continents with the spread of civilization. There are several species including Amara (the rocket candytuft) and umbrellata. The latter is native to southern Europe.

American seed catalogues usually offer it as mixture only, which serves the needs of most gardeners. A border or bed of this mixture is a real delight during the summer months. It usually is grouped with the cool season plants, yet it will give a good display even during the hot summer, provided the roots do not suffer from lack of moisture.

Is Hardy Annual

The popular name for this is globe candytuft, referring to the rounded form of the flower heads. Exposure to full sun and good soil drainage are important, and it also likes a well-limed soil. Otherwise, its requirements are well met in any good garden soil.

Because it is a hardy annual, seed may be sown just as early in the spring as the soil can be prepared.

Sow thinly to give the individual plants enough room to branch freely. Even at that thinning the seedlings when an inch or two high will be needed to allow an even distance of about six inches in the row. If more than one row is sown, allow not less than a foot between them.

Unless the season is excessively hot and dry, the plants will keep on blooming right through the summer and early fall. Pinching them back a little during the late summer will help toward a greater abundance of blooms later in the fall.

HINTS ON COLUMBINES

For strong-growing columbines (Aquilegia) choose a good flowering strain, sow the seeds in a cold frame in April in a well drained soil improved with hotbed leaf mold or compost but containing no active fertilizer. Ground limestone and a little superphosphate, about a tablespoon of each to a square yard, will help. Transplant early, before hot weather, cultivate regularly, give moisture and shade from the hot sun.

The news from Mexico is of deep interest. Matters appear to be approaching a crisis in that quarter, and a fight is almost inevitable. Paredes, president of Mexico, has issued a proclamation, in which he says he has rejected the American Minister; that the United States has despoiled them of the rich and extensive territory of Texas, but that Mexico cannot acknowledge the right of the American flag on the soil of Texas, but will defend her invaded territory, and never permit new conquests or new advances of the Government of the United States. He calls upon the Mexican Congress to take into consideration the necessary steps required in the conflict which is before them, and says he will, in the meantime, repel the invaders force by force.

Another large Iron Foundry is now being erected in Hanover, by Messrs. P. and J. Flickinger. It is calculated (says the Spectator) to give employment to some 10 to 15 hands, and turn out a considerable number of stoves and machinery castings.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Change—Francis M. Buddy has taken charge of the Battlefield hotel, recently kept by Mr. C. Snyder, having purchased a half interest in the property.

At the close of the examination, Judge Fisher took occasion to remark that it was one of the most satisfactory he has ever heard. Mr. Brown is a young man of fine talent, with a well disciplined mind.

The attempt to arbitrate the difficulties between the coal operators and the miners at Mauch Chunk has failed, and the strike will continue.

Colonel Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte arrived home in Baltimore on Saturday. In New York he told a reporter that he visited the Emperor in England, and had a long conversation with him. He found the Emperor reticent, but greatly pleased with his reception at Dover. Colonel Bonaparte has faith in the restoration of the Napoleon dynasty and believes that anarchy will not cease until that dynasty is re-established. He regards Republicanism as impossible in France.

Telegrams from France differ both as to the character and results of the fighting around Paris during the last week. Both the insurgents and Versailles government claim the advantage. Apparently the reduction of the city is no nearer than two weeks ago.

Chapter 17

When the Templar reached the hall of the castle, he found De Bracy already there. "Your love-suit," said De Bracy, "hath, I suppose, been disturbed, like mine, by this obstreperous summons. But you have come later and more reluctantly, and therefore I presume your interview has proved more agreeable than mine."

"Has your suit, then, been unsuccessful paid to the Saxon heiress?" said the Templar.

"By the bones of Thomas a Becket," answered De Bracy, "the Lady Rowena must have heard that I cannot endure the sight of women's tears. But where is Front-de-Boeuf? That horn is sounded more and more clamorously."

They were soon after joined by Front-de-Boeuf.

"Let us see, the cause of this cursed clamour," said Front-de-Boeuf—"here is a letter, and, if I mistake not, it is in Saxon."

"Give it to me," said the Templar. "It is a formal letter of defiance, but, by our Lady of Bethlehem, if it be not a foolish jest, it is the most extraordinary cartel that ever was sent across the drawbridge of a baronial castle."

"Jest!" said Front-de-Boeuf, "I would gladly know who dares jest with me in such a matter!—Read it, Sir Brian."

The Templar accordingly read it as follows:—

"I, Wamba, the son of Witless, Jester to a noble and free-born man, Cedric of Rotherwood, called the Saxon; and I, Gurth, the son of Beowulf, the swineherd—"

"Thou art mad," said Front-de-Boeuf, interrupting the reader.

"By St. Luke, it is so set down," answered the Templar. Then resuming his task, he went on—"I, Gurth, the son of Beowulf, swineherd unto the said Cedric, with the assistance of our allies and confederates, who make common cause with us in this our feud, namely, the good knight, called for the present the Black Knight, who, apprized of your nefarious deed has joined with the stout yeoman, Robert Locksley, called Cleave-the-wand. Do you, Reginald Front-de-Boeuf, and your allies and accomplices whomsoever, to wit, that whereas you have, without cause given or feud declared, wrongfully and by mastery seized upon the person of our lord and master the said Cedric; also the Lady Rowena; also Athelstane of Coningsburgh; also upon the persons of certain freeborn men, their knights; also upon certain serfs, their born bondsmen; also upon a certain Jew, named Isaac of York, together with his daughter, a Jewess, and certain horses and mules; therefore we require and demand that the said persons, be, within an hour after the delivery hereof, delivered to us, or to those whom we shall appoint to receive the same and that untouched and unharmed in body and goods. Failing of which, we do pronounce to you, that we hold ye as robbers and traitors, and will wage our bodies against ye in battle, siege, or otherwise, and do our utmost to your annoyance and destruction. Wherefore may God have you in his keeping. Signed by us upon the eve of St. Withold's Day, under the great-trysting oak in the Hartshill Walk, the above being written by a holy man, Clerk to God, our Lady, and St. Dunstan, in the Chapel of Copmanhurst."

The knights heard this uncommon document read from end to end, and then gazed upon each other in silent amazement, as being utterly at a loss to know what it could pertain.

"Here is a proper matter!" said Front-de-Boeuf; "this comes of lending you the use of my castle, that cannot manage your undertakings quietly—but you must bring this nest of hornets about my ears!"

"For shame, Sir Knight!" said the Templar. "Let us summon our people, and sally forth upon them. One knight—ay, one man-at-arms, were enough for twenty such peasants."

"True," answered Front-de-Boeuf; "were they black Turks or Moors, but these are English yeomen, over whom we shall have no advantages, save what we may derive from our arms and horses, which will avail us little in the glades of the forest. Sally, sally thou? we have scarce men enough to defend the castle. The best of mine are at York, so is all your band, De Bracy; and we have scarcely twenty, besides the handful that were engaged in this mad business. But my castle may defy them.—I have it Sir Templar, we'll write them a letter in the following tenor:—"

"Sir Reginald Front-de-Boeuf, with his noble and knightly allies and confederates, receive no defiance at the hands of slaves, bondsmen, or fugitives. Touching the prisoners we have made, it is our fixed intention to execute them this morning before noon, so that their heads being placed on the battlements, shall show to all men how lightly we esteem those who have bestirred themselves in their rescue."

This letter was handed to the messenger who delivered it to the Black Knight who read it to the assembled confederates.

"By St. Thomas of Canterbury," cried Gurth, "we will tear the castle down with our hands! To the attack! To the attack! My lord and master shall not die!"

At that moment, Reginald Front-de-Boeuf looked out upon the field, and immediately snatched his bugle; and, after winding a long and loud blast, commanded his men to their posts on the walls.

Each knight repaired to his post, and at the head of the few followers whom they were able to muster, and who were in numbers inadequate to defend the whole extent of the walls; they awaited with calm determination the threatened assault.
